PROFILE

I am currently in my third year of University, studying for a Bachelor of Arts degree in Photography at the University for the Creative Arts, Surrey, UK. A major influence upon my photography has been my experiences and time spent traveling in Indonesia, Thailand and India. These experiences have allowed me to experiment with different forms of photography, producing images for the Documentary, Portraiture and Experimental fields of photography. I constantly draw upon these experiences and memories to motivate myself into new ways of approaching the 'Travel Image' genre. I am currently working on a body of work entitled 'Between The Lines'. This piece was inspired by my Great Grandfathers diary containing first hand experiences of the First World War. Combining text from the diary and Landscape photography, I am revisiting precise locations found in the diary and photographing them in their current state. In June I am participating the exhibition Eclectic as part of Farnham's degree show, I am looking forward to this opportunity to receive a public reaction to my work. I am a committed and highly energetic individual looking for a challenge within the creative industry.
